TID JOINT REVIEW BOARD REPRESENTATIVE

Background:

Local municipalities create Tax Incremental Districts (TIDs) to provide incentives for development in their community. Generally TIDs are created to promote development of property for one of two main reasons:

- x The property would otherwise not be developed because it is a blighted and/or Brownfield site.
- x The project will create a large number of new jobs and/or high paying jobs in the community.

The TID approval process includes review and approval by both the governing body for the municipality as well as a Joint Review Board (JRB) made up of the other major taxing bodies in the community. In the case of the City of Kenosha, the Village of Pleasant Prairie, and the Village of Somers, the JRB is comprised of a representative from each of the following: the municipality itself, Kenosha County, Gateway Technical College, and KUSD along with one at-large member selected by the taxing bodies. KUSD has been represented by Patrick Finnemore for the majority of the TIDs the past 10 plus years including all of the TIDs during the past year. In each case, the municipality has made a formal request to the School Board President to appoint the KUSD representative. In an effort to simplify the appointment process, we are recommending that the Board appoint the KUSD representative on an annual basis as part of the Annual Organizational Meeting. Furthermore, it is recommended for the upcoming year that Pat Finnemore continue to be the representative for KUSD. Mr. Finnemore has served in this role for the last twelve years.

Administration Recommendation:

Administration recommends School Board approval of Patrick Finnemore as the KUSD representative for any Tax Incremental District Joint Review Boards for the upcoming year.
